WPA EMPLOYEES
PUSHING WORK

Sewing Project to Provide Employment
For Women

WPA jobs were submitted by Salem early enough to set up an array of federal work here to keep the WPA workers busy through the summer and winter.

Mrs. Hill said today that a total of $509.06 was spent for relief needs here in December and $700 already had been expended this month. A partial allocation for relief needs for January was received by the city from the county in the amount of $419.15.

She indicated that the federal sewing project designed to be set up in Salem shortly would reduce the city's relief load considerably, giving employment to many women who are able to work.

Mrs. Catherine Davis, who will be in charge of the Salem sewing project, said that the office on South Broadway, selected for the work, probably will be opened up around Jan. 13. The city's only expense in the work will be office rent.

Mrs. Davis again appealed to residents of the city for the loan of sewing machines, irons and ironing boards. "The equipment will not be harmed and will be returned immediately after the work is finished," she said.

Crew Transferred

Engineer Barkhoff said that the crew of 20 WPA workers engaged in laying an eight-inch sanitary sewer pipe on Buckeye ave., has been transferred to Franklin st., where work on the same project will be continued, eventually swinging around to Bank st.

The engineer said that the McKinley Heights water line project near City hospital is nearing completion. Workers on that job today are laying pipe across the hospital grounds. Two fire pumps have been installed in the vicinity, giving added fire protection.

Upon the completion of this work, Barkhoff said, the men are expected to start the Hillsdale water line job in the southern end of the city. Federal funds have been set aside for the work.

FARM PROGRAM

Discuss What to Do About
Supreme Court AAA
Destruction

FIVE TENTATIVE
PLANS DRAFTED

House Committee Hopes For Solution In Limited Way

By JERRY GREENE,
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—New Deal leaders speeded efforts today to find a new farm program.

President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace met at lunch to discuss what to do about AAA's supreme court destruction.

Draft Five Plans

The house agriculture committee, summoned to an unexpected meeting by Chairman Jones (D. Texas)—one of those who has conferred with Mr. Roosevelt—directed the drafting of five tentative plans for its consideration. They are:

- 1.—The domestic allotment plan.
- 2.—The export debenture proposal.
- 3.—Appropriations to various states on condition that such states establish an adjustment program similar to the AAA.
- 4.—Appropriations for a land leasing program.
- 5.—Conditional appropriations to individual farmers who comply with the conditions.

Hope To Find Solution

"We feel," Jones said after the closed session, "that ways can be found under the limits set out in the decision to fashion a farm program that will at least in a measure offset the disadvantages which the farmers have under the national tariff system."

The chairman said the committee would get down to work on the tentative proposals as quickly as possible.

There was no outward hint of what the government plans in the way of farm relief.

Sheriff's Deputies Find

His Brother

William McMillan, 32, of East Palestine, who escaped from the courthouse at Lisbon yesterday after he had been sentenced by Judge W. F. Lones on a charge of violating parole, was captured at the home of his brother, Robert, near Rogers at 11:30 p. m. Tuesday.

Acting on a "hunch," Deputies Paul Early and George Hayes, members of Sheriff Frank Ballantine's party, which had been seeking the escaped prisoner for seven hours, went to Rogers, after combing the Lisbon territory.

Found at Brother's Home

McMillan, who had just arrived at his brother's home, was drinking a cup of coffee when the deputies entered. He did not resist arrest. His brother denied he was hiding him when first questioned but confessed when the deputies asked to look around the house.

McMillan walked out of the county courthouse at 4 p. m. yesterday after he had asked permission to go to the rest room. He had just been sentenced to serve from one to seven years in the Ohio penitentiary for violation of a parole granted him in January, 1935, when he was charged with larceny.

When captured, McMillan told Deputies Hayes and Early that he had hidden under a freight car at the Excelsior Fire and Clay plants near Lisbon until after dark and had then walked to Rogers, a distance of 10 miles.

Claimed He Was III

McMillan was taken to the county jail Dec. 30, charged with intoxication, which was in violation of his parole. He protested to Sheriff Ballantine that he was sick all during the time he was confined in the jail and that he would be unable to go before the court yesterday.

Sheriff Ballantine sent Dr. Seward Harris, county physician, to examine McMillan and upon finding him in fit condition, Dr. Harris brought him to the court house for trial yesterday afternoon.

"The Lost Christ"
Sermon At Revival

A capacity audience, boosted by a delegation from the Unity class, heard Dr. L. R. Akers speak on "The Lost Christ," at another of the series of evangelistic meetings in the First Methodist Episcopal church Tuesday evening. He is conducting a two weeks revival.

Dr. Akers at 7:30 p. m. today will give an address particularly addressed to men, but everyone is invited. He will speak on "The Bread and Butter Value of Religion." Special music will be heard.

Tuesday evening's sermon was based on the story of Jesus' tarrying behind when his parents had taken him to Jerusalem when he was about 12 years of age. He cited the fact that his parents missed him after starting the homeward journey, and on returning to Jerusalem found him where they had left him. This he applied to the present day life, and urged those who felt they had lost the Christ in their hearts to at once return to him.

Deploping the fact that the Bible, with its excellent guidance for life is largely a closed book to so many, Dr. Akers called attention to the fact that this places a heavy responsibility on church members, and declared that "This is no time for 'pussyfooting' in the pulpit or for a 'muffled ministry'."

WAYS AND MEANS
URGES APPROVAL

Measure Is Backed By Three Veterans' Organizations

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—House consideration tomorrow with a vote probable Friday was assured cash bonus legislation today.

The rules committee gave the right of way on the floor to the full payment bill backed by the big-three veterans organizations. It will be called up tomorrow and allows four hours of general debate.

Urges Payment

The rule was granted shortly after the ways and means committee urged cash payment as an essential part of the recovery program.

But when Chairman Doughton (D. N. C.) of the venue committee was asked by Representative Cox (D. Ga.) of the rules group, when the bonus bill approved by the committee was "an administration proposal with the endorsement of the president," Doughton replied, "Not to my knowledge. I wish it were."

The ways and means committee said:

"In the judgment of the committee, immediate cash payment of the adjusted service certificates will increase the purchasing power of the nation. It believes that it is an essential part of the recovery program, that the present policy looking toward recovery argues strongly that this debt, which is just, due, and unpaid, should be paid in cash to the defenders of our country, who rendered the services and paid in their life time."

Should Be Paid Now

The committee said that additional money immediately necessary for payment would be about $1,000,000,000. It added the "conclusion" that the adjusted service of the, the flower of our manhood should be recognized in a small adjustment of their service pay," and that the veterans should receive that adjustment in their lifetime.

BUDGING THE BUDGET

The governmental budget is a device to make officeholders declare beforehand how much money they intend to spend. There are three steps in the process that should be called budgeting the budget.

First, heads of departments are ordered to prepare estimates of necessary and desirable expenditures. Unless there is an economy drive in progress, the estimates will be ample. Otherwise, they merely will be as large as possible.

Second, when the estimates have been submitted, the head of the government submits a budget message to the public. In the meantime, he has been handed estimates of revenue, which are juggled to create a semblance of balance, or at least of relationship, between outgo and income. His aim is to make the whole thing look as favorable as possible to taxpayers.

Thereupon, the legislative body takes the budget recommendations into its own hands, tears them apart and prepares virtually the kind of budget it intended to prepare in the first place. Ordinarily, appropriations exceed recommendations, which satisfies all parties concerned, excepting possibly the more critical taxpayers.

The United States has been given the budget message of its president, Mr. Roosevelt, in order to make the prospect as pleasant as possible, has been vague about expenditures on relief. Close students of financial operations affecting the government are able to point to many other passages of the message which leave something to be desired from the standpoint of clarity.

It is now the turn of congress to start its budgetary function, which will consist in discovering places where it is necessary to spend more money. For the next few months, congress will be busy with appropriation bills. In its spare time it will pass bills calling for new expenditures, the bonus for instance. All in all, it is plain that the budget doesn't mean a great deal in the way of assurance to the public, particularly when conditions are unsettled. As an indication of intentions it still serves a purpose, but intentions don't amount to much when it's a question of being careful with money.

IN THE REALM OF POSSIBILITY

As was true in the days immediately following the supreme courts ruling in the Schechter case, which made the industrial recovery act ineffective, the country's interest in the court's adverse ruling destroying the agricultural adjustment act is largely of an academic nature. The public again indicates acceptance of the action of the judicial branch of the federal government in vetoing an act of congress. It is arguing the merits of the Roosevelt administration's policy. Some are wondering whether or not the Constitution should be amended to accommodate the present trend toward centralization of governmental authority. Others are heartened by the upholding of the principle of states' rights.

But, in the eventual attitude assumed by the public toward the court's decision in the Schechter case the academic aspect was obscured by the practical aspect. Critics of the court predicted ominously after its ruling against the industrial recovery act that there would be a general collapse in wage and price structures. They warned of recession in business activity. They succeeded in creating a condition of nervousness. There is no indication that this is going to happen in connection with the rejection of the agricultural adjustment act. Nevertheless, there are those who would do it if they could.

If farm prices collapse and if an overwhelming majority of farmers clamor for restoration of agricultural control in some new form, that will prove, at least to the Roosevelt administration, that it must find a substitute for AAA. Many will remember that a popular demand for restoration of NRA was expected under the same circumstances. However, for some reason or other, conditions grew no worse, but better, after the Schechter decision. All hope of restoring NRA was abandoned. It is within the realm of possibility that the eventual result of the AAA decision won't be chaos at all, but merely an unexciting adjustment to former conditions.

O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

NEW YORK, Jan. 8.—Older New Yorkers are wondering about the fate of the venerable Murray Hill hotel, now that its proprietor, Ben Bates has passed over. He was last of the sole owners who gave his inn the Mine Host flavor in the manner of Simeon Ford.

The Murray Hill never tried to catch step with the jazz trend. The coral pink of its facade, the colonial entrance porch benched by blue carriage lamps, bespoke its dignity. Until a few years ago its patrons were carried up and down by pull rope elevators. The clientele included several presidents, and many representatives of the aristocratic wealth of its perfunctory. Recently almost a million was spent in refurbishing, but great care was taken to preserve its mid-Victorian air and studied simplicity. Its owner had received enormous offers in the days when the Grand Central zone was skyrocketing—offers in the millions. But he refused all. For many years an illness confined him to one of the apartments. Out of this grew a sentimental attachment outweighing material gains.

Daniel Frohman dedicates his recent excellent biography to Fannie Hurst. Since her early struggling days in the metropolis, Miss Hurst and the dean of the theatre have been warm friends. At her frequent dinners and luncheons, the beloved octogenarian is always present and is often her escort at first nights. Mr. Frohman rarely declines invitations to important affairs. A time or two he has slumped in exhaustive faints at banquet tables, but carries on. He has not retired before 3 a. m. in 40 years. His home is over the Lyceum theatre, which he owns.

Incidentally, there are not so many stay-ups among writing folk these days. Such as the late Charles R. Barnes whose flat on Amsterdam avenue was liveliest at 5 a. m. Prazier Hunt, in old robe and green eye shade, could usually be found squared off before a typewriter in a midtown hotel any hour of the night looking up to visitors at least long enough to nod to the bottled array on the mantle. Montague Glass enjoyed late droppers-in, and Ring Lardner, before his last illness, was ready to arise from bed at the ring of the bell and make a fourth at breakfast.

The writers of chit-chat about late stay-uppers in night clubs are again festooning their squibs with the name of the glamiest of the glamour girls—Tallulah Bankhead. Her appearance amid such frivolities marks a remarkable come-back in health in the life of this exciting lady of the stage. Two years ago they mentioned Tallulah with head shakes and whispers. A series of operations seemed to offer no encouragement and her fate was regarded a matter of time. But she fooled, quite pleasantly, the doctors and friends and now is the chief merriment at many parties.

The spiffy bar and restaurant at the Metropolitan opera have given a continental touch to the gloomy old structure. Also it provides the glossiest bar crowd New York has ever seen. Scarcely a customer not ermined or top hatted. And the evening I popped in there were four monacles—including, of course, the town's most inveterate single eye-glasser, Jules Bache.

Patsy Kelly, graduated to Hollywood stardom, is the feminine prototype of the Horatio Alger up-from-the-sidewalk hero. Broadway first flickered at her when in Bowers plaid skirt and faded jersey, Frank Fay cuffed her about as his stooge. He came upon Patsy as an amateur night exhibit. Her shrill voice, gum chewing and rowdy slouch made her a movie moppet that was a natural.

I tackled a continuous burlesque show the other afternoon. Flat. Dull. Trying to be dirty instead of funny. I kept thinking of that standard scene in every burlesque. Two hobo comedians suffering the bitter experience of having three blondes sit at their table, one by one, ordering all the fancy dishes in the house. The writhing was devastating. The putty-nosed boys were experts of the writhe. Lloyd Hamilton, of the old silents, was No. 1 writher in a writhing age of comedy.

THE STARS SAY

For Thursday, January 9

Many adverse planetary directions make this a day of doubtful issues. There are omens of devastating upheavals, treachery, vexation and trial to be valiantly met or surmounted philosophically.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves in a year calling for courage and fortitude. A bereavement may be at the root of an upheaval or a sudden change in the affairs.

A child born on this day may be retiring and exclusive, caring more for aloof places in the country than social contacts because of its studious and introspective nature.

Eyes of World Focused On Neutrality Bill Fight

International reverberations stirred by President Roosevelt's neutrality message in his congressional address confirmed his prediction that his words "would not prove popular in any nation that chooses to fit this shoe to its foot." Foreign sentiment in some sections was aroused by his statement that "autocracies" are "infernal machines threatening the whole world." The eyes of the world focus upon the current battle in congress over the neutrality bill introduced in the house by James McReynolds, chairman of the house foreign affairs committee, a bill opposed by Senator Gerald Nye, chairman of the senate munitions committee, who protested the discretionary power it gives the president to decide what war materials shall be included in any embargo imposed on warring nations.

HEALTH

By Dr. Royal S. Copeland
New York City

MOTHERS HAVE many troubles to contend with and many worries. They are eager for their children to be well and strong, free from all physical complaints. One troublesome condition is bed-wetting, or enuresis, as the doctors call it.

In many instances the abnormality can be corrected by simple measures. But unfortunately, the condition is frequently neglected. Many mothers accept it as a normal occurrence, believing the weakness will be outgrown. Yet it may run on for years and such a case will disappear only when the necessary steps are taken to determine the cause.

There are various causes for enuresis. It may be due to a tight or adherent foreskin and for this circumcision is advised. Sometimes it is due to intestinal worms or to a disturbance in the tissues about the vent.

It may result from mental overstimulation. That is why it is frequently encountered in children who are nervous and highly strung. Sometimes it may be traced to some infection or other disorder of the bladder or kidneys. Certain congenital abnormalities cause enuresis and may require operation for their removal. Fortunately, such cases are rare. If the child has been examined by a physician and no organic defects are found the cure is simple.

Encourage the youngster to empty the bladder just before going to bed. The evening meal must not include an excess of fluids. Indeed, it is advisable to limit the quantities of milk and water after five o'clock.

Irritating and spicy foods should be omitted from the diet. It should be limited to simple, bland but nutritious foods.

If these simple measures are not effective, it may be necessary to awaken the child during the night to empty the bladder. It is well to have a regular schedule, perhaps at ten o'clock and in the morning at six.

The important thing about the treatment is to establish a new habit. It is amazing how quickly this can be done with most children. With insistence upon regularity for a while, the function becomes automatic.

The mother must not overlook the importance of thoroughly awakening the child. Merely carrying him from the crib to the lavatory is not sufficient to rouse him. If the child is partially asleep while voiding the desired results are not accomplished. Make him conscious of the program; then he is more likely to cooperate.

Today

A Review of the Day's News

By Arthur Brisbane

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE sports department shows that out of about 1,800,000,000 human beings on earth only eleven are known that can run a mile at really high speed, of these not more than four would have any chance of beating an individual named Glenn Cunningham, of Kansas.

You would think that the billion unknown uncrowned among the so-called "backward races," many with native energy, free of civilization's handicaps, could easily be trained to beat the eleven fast ones, but it is not probable.

RUNNING on two legs one mile in a fraction over four minutes, eight seconds, is an achievement of brain and willpower primarily. To make yourself run more than twenty feet in every second and keep that up for a mile is a mental process.

So it is with the more popular golf. Three men finished a 72-hole competition, one with 272 strokes, another with 277, another with 278. If men could develop and train their thinking processes as closely as they do their muscular processes there would be improvement.

The original Greek Marathon runner would seem slow in 1936, but the brains of Socrates, Plato and Aristotle, three other Greeks, would not seem slow.

IN AN effort to "eat itself out of debt," as somebody puts it, the Democratic party tonight will sit down to about 2,500 separate "Jackson Day" dinners. 250,000 tickets for the dinners have been ordered and 50,000 more will be sold throughout the country.

The price of tickets runs as high as fifty dollars to help the Democratic party finance itself.

EVEN FIVE DOLLARS for "meal of victuals" would seem a good deal to some small "one-horse" farmers, struggling to clear fifteen dollars a month with which to feed an entire family.

Andrew Jackson himself would be surprised if he could attend one of the dinners in his honor. He never spent $5 for dinner in his life. As for a $50 dinner, that would make him wonder.

THAT "American hospital" alleged to have been wiped out by Italian bombs at Daggah Bur is now said to have been an Egyptian Red Cross station.

Egyptian or American, it is the same. Hereafter, those that go to the seat of war with steel helmets, or red crosses, must expect bombs to fall and gases to spread. Princes and nobles kept away from the front when gunpowder made their armor plate worthless—bombs and gas may discourage others.

"Highly civilized nations," including England and this country, so much horrified by today's proceedings in Ethiopia, are at this moment employing chemists to develop newer and deadlier gases, more powerful explosives.

These would be used in war without a moment's hesitation against any enemy regardless of red crosses or anything else, on the ground.

There is considerable hypocrisy among the sanctimonious nations.

THE METHODIST Episcopal Church is proud to announce in Nashville, Tenn., that it begins 1936 with 2,783,299 regularly enrolled members, an increase over the preceding year of 31,298 with 21,361 baptized infants not included.

This is the reply of the Methodist Episcopalians to the high church Anglicans of the English church that suggest giving up Protestantism altogether as a failure.

The Dividend Again

When it first became necessary for this company to restrict withdrawals—back in 1931—the dividends on its savings accounts were credited and compounded. Then, beginning with July, 1934, these dividends were payable in cash but not to exceed a hundred dollars per month to any one person. Now—January, 1936—the hundred dollar limitation is done away with and the entire dividend is available in cash to all who wish to withdraw it. If not withdrawn it will be credited and compounded as heretofore.

Piles Go Quick

Without Salves or Cutting

Hemorrhoids, protruding piles are caused by bad circulation of the blood in the lower bowel. The parts become weak, flabby and lifeless. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause—that's why salves, suppositories and cutting often fail. Dr. Leonard's medicine, HEM-ROID, succeeds because it relieves congestion, restores circulation—helps to heal and strengthen the diseased parts. HEM-ROID has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. Druggists everywhere sell HEM-ROID with this guarantee.

Irish Face Epic Year in 1936

Irish Free State has in prospect an epic year in its stormy history in 1936 which will see considerable revision of the republic's economic and industrial system. Early in February the senate will be abolished and a unicameral government established, giving President Eamon de Valera almost dictatorial powers since he controls the cabinet which will dominate the one-chamber legislature. Ireland is also going through an industrial revolution designed to give the republic economic independence and self-sufficiency. This program has resulted in extremely high living costs due to the high tariff necessary to protect the fledgling industries.

"WIFE IN CUSTODY" by BEATRICE LUBITZ

CHAPTER XXXI
The next morning Stella phoned Helen heard Walter talking earnestly but his voice was so low that she couldn't make out what he said. He hung up the receiver. "It will be all right. She's coming to New York today. She says she's arranged to stay at Ethel's until she finds an apartment for herself. Those two always did get along together."

"That's fine then."
"Do you want to go back to the country?"
"No. I think we ought to take a larger apartment in the house and stay over the winter. Marie and Anton are staying at Bound Brook, aren't they?"

"So far as I know."
"That will be all right then. We can go out there for weekends. I shall speak to the house manager today. I think there's a larger apartment available on the other side."

"All right, dear, do as you think best."
"I'm not going to run away," Helen decided definitely when he had left for the Salons.

At eleven the phone rang. It was Dirk.
"I want to be the first to tell you, Helen. I heard last night you were in town. I'm at the hospital. Irene gave birth to a bouncing boy this morning," he exclaimed.

"Oh, Dirk! A boy! Congratulations, oh, thousands of them to you and Irene. How is she?"
"She's wonderful. Helen. He weighed nine pounds and not a whimper out of Irene."

"Oh, I'm so glad for you both. When can I see Irene?"
"Not until later in the week. But won't you have lunch with me and watch me beam with fatherhood?"

"What fun! Of course. You may beam to your heart's content. It will be me good too. I feel old and chilled this morning and a good beaming will hearten me."

"Why, what's wrong, Helen?"
"Oh, nothing much. I won't blight your big moment by complaining. I want to hear all about the baby. Where shall I meet you?"

At noon they sat facing each other in the restaurant. So contagious was Dirk's happiness that Helen forgot her troubles for the time being.

"What are you going to call the boy, Dirk?"
"Wells. I think Irene fancies the name," he grinned. "The kid's the image of my father. A Terhune to the bone. Dad and mother are simply wild with happiness. Funniest little shaver, the kid is, bald and as red as if he had been boiled and still, incredibly enough, he looks like father. Or is it father looks like the baby?"

"Oh, Dirk," Helen laughed. "There you are!" he said triumphantly. "Well, I'm a happy father. Irene suffered quite a bit. There was one moment she was green as grass. I thought she'd break my arm in two, poor girl. What an ordeal."

Ethiopia Proves Interesting Topic at Travelers Club Meet

Ethiopia and a discussion of its people, the country, its strength and weaknesses, occupied members of the Travelers Club yesterday at a meeting in the library assembly room.

Mrs. H. A. Walton had the first paper, "Hell-Hole of Creation—Ethiopia", in which she discussed the general formation of the country and life of the peoples of the various tribes which make up the nation.

Mrs. M. M. Sandrock told members of the club about the three foster sons of Haile Selassie, emperor of Ethiopia, as she remembered them when they attended Muskingum college at the time she was there. One of the boys is a relative of the king but the two others are ordinary Ethiopian youth whom Haile Selassie decided to educate. Through the influence of his friend, Dr. Thomas Lambie, the boys were sent to Muskingum. At the school, they were called Matthew, Mark and Luke, because their names were difficult to pronounce.

Reviews Pre-war Events

"Italy Versus Ethiopia" was the title of a paper given by Mrs. W. F. Matthews. Mrs. Matthews reviewed the events which have led to the war between Italy and Ethiopia, the result of long and extensive preparations on Italy's part. The war comes, Mrs. Matthews said, as an effort on Mussolini's part to divert attention from troubles at home and also to procure more land for Italy's overcrowded people, with the added desire for revenge for the defeat of Italian forces in the war years ago. She explained the difference in the two countries' preparations for war.

Jurgens; chaplain, Mrs. Viola Otlip; patriotic instructor, Mrs. Emma Zimmerman; musician, Mrs. Matthew Moss; color bearers, Mrs. Minnie Bush, Mrs. J. W. Caulfield, Mrs. William Foster and Mrs. Howard C. Smith; conductor, Mrs. Elizabeth Wright; assistant conductor, Mrs. Harry Stratton; guard, Mrs. Hattie Murphy; assistant guard, Mrs. Frank Behner; press correspondent, Mrs. G. H. Mounts.

After the installation a social hour was enjoyed and a lunch was served by the committee.

In two weeks the corps will meet again at the hall.

W. C. T. U. State Plan Is Discussed

The state plan of work for the W. C. T. U. was presented yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the local union held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Coombs of West State st.

The membership campaign will be continued this year on the same plan as last year's contests and will close on May 1 with a May party for all new members.

The 1936 symbol for Ohio is a wheat sheaf and for each new member, who will be represented at the convention, a red carnation.

A special meeting was announced for a date near Jan. 16, which was originally Victory day and is now called Temperance Education day.

The regular meeting will be in February at the home of Mrs. George Mountford on Vine ave.

Saxon Ladies Plan Valentine Fete

Saxon Ladies Singing society members and friends will have a Valentine party at the hall on Feb. 13, plans for the event having been made at a meeting last night at the Saxon hall.

Plans were made for a bunco party, open to the public, to be held Jan. 22 at the hall.

The next meeting of the group will be held Feb. 4.

Mrs. Rohrer To Be Class Hostess

and the strength of each in the event of a long struggle.

Mrs. Matthews pointed out that L. J. Taber, master of the state grange, said some years ago after a visit in Europe to study agricultural conditions there, that Mussolini was the most dynamic figure in the world and that in ten years would drench the world with blood. It has been eight years since Taber made that statement.

Mrs. W. P. Carpenter gave a paper on "Lawrence, King of Arabia". Thomas Edward Lawrence, one of the most romantic figures in history, who was to be known as "the uncrowned king of Arabia" was born in England, lived for a time in France and then went back to England where he attended Oxford university. It was for the purpose of acquiring first hand information for his thesis on architecture during the Crusades that he went to the far east, where he left the ordinary tourist's ways and roads and wandered barefoot over the countries, penetrating and visiting places that few others had.

He conceived the idea of uniting all the tribes of Arabia to fight with England against the Turks and succeeded. An account of his adventures and exploits is given in his book, "The Seven Pillars of Wisdom", which before his death sold for $20,000 a copy. Since his death, which occurred last May after a motorcycle accident, the books have been edited by the government and are now selling for only a few dollars.

"Modern Life in Morocco", a paper given by Mrs. Grant Woodruff, concluded the program. Mrs. Woodruff described the two leading cities of the country, the many people who make up the population, the three divisions in government and the customs and life of the people.

The Travelers club committee will cooperate with committees of the Book and Salem Music Study clubs for the annual joint meeting on Jan. 20, when Ward Marsh, dramatic critic of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, will address the groups at the library.

Pattern 2534

"Rich man, poor man"—teach her the rest of the rhyme and she'll love buttoning and unbuttoning those five bright buttons which make her daintily printed frock so smart. Nine o'clock scholars or two-year old toddlers will fare best if their frocks are of this easy "self-help" type. Mother—or the one who makes the frock—is thankful in more than one way, for it's unusually easy pattern to follow, and easy to keep freshly laundered and ironed, later. What Kiddie wouldn't be pretty proud of such a noble fronting of pleats—crisply starched, and ever so roomy? Make it up in some irresistibly bright challis, pique or broadcloth and you'll find it's her favorite.

Pattern 2534 is available in sizes 2, 4, 6, 8 and 10. Size 4 takes 3 yards 36 inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

The Home Kitchen

By Jeanette Young Norton

WE ARE bringing you pleasant news today, for it is of the new discoveries just launched on the American cooking front, discoveries that are destined to be grand kitchen aids. Manufacturers, engineers, scientists, farmers and home economists all have been on the job and so new products and receipts await your early inspection and use.

We'll lead off the gladsome procession with odorless garlic, followed by that new cabbage guaranteed to have a blameless odor during cooking. Then a coreless apple has made its breath-taking appearance and as if that was not enough, corn on the cob now comes ready-cooked in cans, or in the raw state in individual transparent wrappings.

Then for that new fruit cake mix. There has been evolved a new type of golf aluminum foil, guaranteed to keep the mix, which is packed in the tin you bake it in, fresh for as long as two years. The fruit peels for the cake you mix yourself now comes ready-sliced in thin slices and in new "window" packages. A new lemon-juice filling has been contrived.

New Appliances

New kitchen utensils, designed by a famous designer of automobiles are shaped to fit the hand and are stream lined. Colored door-knobs for kitchens are here, part of the plan to brighten up those workshops. Then there is silverware specially designed for two-year-olds and also a new measuring spoon that stands up by itself.

Then there's the appliance which grinds waste foods and thereby eliminates the garbage can. This device can be attached to existing sinks or can be used in conjunction with a new electric dishwasher ensemble. When all the waste is reduced to a fine pulp it is flushed away by water and carried away as part of the sewage stream. So that is where the "engineer" comes in that we mentioned as being concerned in new ideas for the kitchen.

But to get back to the cooking front, something new is a ruddy cranberry ice. Use the fresh variety or the excellent canned fruit. Cook four cups of cranberries in two cups hot water until the skins pop, then strain through a fine sieve, add a third of a cup lemon juice and three cups of white syrup and mix. Put in trays of automatic refrigerator and freeze, stirring every half hour until firm. It is delicious with meat.

Theater Attractions

Joan Bennett and Ronald Colman who appear in "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo", at the State Thursday only.

With the leading role particularly suited to Ronald Colman, "The Man Who Broke the Bank at Monte Carlo" opens at the State theater Thursday, showing that day only. Colman, suave and debonair as ever, portrays an impoverished Russian prince, who drives a taxi in Paris for a living. Backed by a few of his friends, he goes to Monte Carlo with their savings and runs the few francs into ten million at the gambling resorts there. Returning to Paris he divides the winnings among his friends but is pursued by Colin Clive and Joan Bennett. These two are hired by the gambling company to lure Colman back to the tables in order that they may get back his money.

Colman on the other hand uses the fortune he has won to win the girl with whom he has fallen in love. Olive and Miss Bennett lead Colman a merry chase through the gay centers of Europe to Inter-laken, Switzerland, famous for its winter sports. Here in this beautiful setting Miss Bennett falls in love with Colman. She tries to save him but Clive gets him to go back to Monte Carlo. There he loses his fortune but wins the love of Miss Bennett.

Montagu Love and Nigel Bruce are also in the cast. The setting of the gambling rooms are duplicates of the famous casino at Monte Carlo with the chips, tables and gambling rooms exact copies.

Tonight at the State is the last showing of the double feature that includes "Millions In the Air" and "The Bride of Frankenstein". Wendy Barrie and John Howard are the principals in the musical "Millions In the Air" with the supporting cast including Benny Baker, Robert Cummings, Willis Howard, Eleanor Whitney and Dave Chasen.

"The Bride of Frankenstein" presents Boris Karloff, Elsa Lanchester, Colin Clive and Valerie Hobson in it's cast.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You get constipated. Your whole system is poisoned and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

Laxatives are only makeshifts. A mere bowel movement doesn't get at the cause. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up". Harmless, gentle, yet amazing in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name. Stubbornly refuse anything else, 25c.

School Absences Due to Colds Are Cut Almost Half

Better Colds-Control Shown in Clinical Tests Among 5,118 School Children

Important news for mothers and teachers comes from Vicks Chemists as one result of their thirty years' specialized study of colds. In clinical tests among 5,118 school children, nearly half (40.2%) of the time ordinarily lost from school on account of colds was saved by followers of Vicks Plan for Better Control of Colds.

This is only one of the impressive findings from three series of clinical tests of the Plan, conducted over a three-year period, among 14,702 people—including both adults and children. Gratifying results were indicated in fewer, shorter and milder colds for followers of the Plan.

To help reduce children's absences from school on account of colds, mothers in Salem are being given complete details of Vicks Plan, and trial packages of its specialized aids to better home control of colds.

You will also find the Plan fully explained in each package of Vicks Vapo-Rub—first aid in preventing many colds—and Vicks Vapo-Rub—the mother's standby in relieving colds.

Ohio Bell Company Reveals Decided Gain Here In 1935

The Ohio Bell Telephone company had a net gain of 132 telephones in Salem in 1935, the figure representing the difference between new installations and removals, it was announced today by Carl F. Willman, the company's commercial manager.

This was a considerably greater gain than that of 1934. An analysis of the figures shows that, while the Ohio Bell has been experiencing a steady recovery from its depression losses, it still has a considerable distance to go before regaining its peak.

The high mark in the number of telephones here was reached in May, 1930, when the figure was 2,842. The situation changed in June, when the depression losses began. From then on each month brought a greater loss than the month preceding and in July 1933 the total number of stations had dropped to 1,906. The result was a net loss of 936 telephones.

The tide turned in August, 1933, when Salem had a net gain of seven telephones. The increase continued and in 1934 there was a net gain of 64 telephones for the year. By the end of 1935 the Ohio Bell had 2,247 telephones here, with 595 more to be gained before the previous peak figure can be attained.

"The telephone industry is an excellent reflector of general business conditions," said Mr. Willman. "Past experience has demonstrated that it is among the last to be hit by a depression and one of the last to recover. That is the nature of the business. As general business takes a swing upward the demand for telephone service follows suit."

In the state as a whole, the Ohio Bell had a net gain of 25,400 telephones in 1935.

Three Games Will Be Played In Big Six League This Week

Salem-Barberton Tilt Saturday Night Tops List of Loop Contests

Other League Games Will Be Massillon-Niles and Struthers-Niles; Three Non-Loop Contests Also Scheduled

Headed by the Salem-Barberton contest Saturday night, in which the Quakers will make their first stand in defense of their 1934-35 title, three Northeastern Ohio Big Six league games will be played this Friday and Saturday. Three other contests involving N. E. O. Big Six teams will also be played over the weekend.

Besides the Salem-Barberton clash, other league contests are Massillon-Niles and Struthers-Niles. The three non-league games are Salem-East Liverpool, Alliance-Canton McKinley and Massillon-Youngstown Chaney.

In meeting Barberton, Salem is stacked up against one of the strongest teams of the league. Although they dropped a decision to Massillon last week, 29 to 22, the Magics are still one of the classic teams of the loop. Previous to their defeat by Massillon, the Magics had won six straight contests, four of them over Akron schools which each year produce strong teams.

Face East Liverpool
The Quakers will have an opportunity to warm up for Barberton when they face the undefeated East Liverpool Potters in a contest on the Salem floor Friday night. The outcome of the game will have no bearing on the N. E. O. Big Six league standings but will affect the race for Columbiana county honors. The Potters and the Quakers have each won two county games and the winner of Friday night's contest will be the favorite to annex the Columbiana title.

The second feature clash of league schools will be the meeting of the undefeated Massillon Tigers and Niles McKinley High cagers. Massillon gained added prestige in the league last week when it wiped Barberton from the unbeaten list and is now touted as the leading team of the circuit. With Dean Rees running wild to tally 21 points, Niles edged out Alliance last week, 29 to 27. The Niles-Massillon contest should prove additionally interesting when the high-scoring Rees pits his ability against the also high-scoring Bill Rohr of Massillon.

Another Loop Contest
After its Friday night game with the Tigers, Niles will play another loop contest when it tangles with Struthers on Saturday night. Struthers, the victim of Massillon in its only league game so far this season, trounced Youngstown East last week, 31 to 22. Alliance, minus a league game this week, is involved in a Stark county contest on Friday night when it meets Canton McKinley, unbeaten in five games. It will be the first county game for the Bulldogs while it will be the second for Alliance, who fell before Massillon early in the season. Canton's five victories have been over Cleveland Lincoln, Springfield, Mansfield, Akron South and Akron East.

Massillon, following its league game with Niles Friday night, will meet Youngstown Chaney in a non-circuit fray Saturday night. Chaney ran roughshod over Salem last week to place itself high in the district rankings and can be conceded every possible chance of upsetting Massillon. The Tigers, if they defeat Niles, will probably be riding high on the crest of their victory wave and Chaney will no doubt serve as a good breakwater.

The league standings to date follow:

Jim Jackson of The News, John Carpenter of the Foremen and Paul Covert of the Sinks hammered out three-game scores of over 600 during last night's matches. Jackson chalked up a 610 series, Carpenter a 604 and Covert a 603.

A 224 by Covert was the high single game rolled during last night's league play while close behind Covert was Jackson with a 222.

AMERICAN LEGION—Forefeit

BAPTIST CAGE TEAM WINS IN OVERTIME TILT

Down Trojans 34 to 31 After Two Extra Periods In Loop Game

The Baptist quintet is still undefeated in the Class B city basketball league today but the Trojan cagers gave them plenty to worry about in a contest at the Memorial building last night.

After two overtime periods, the Baptists finally nosed out the Trojans, 34 to 31. At the end of the fourth quarter the score was knotted, 30 to 30.

The contest saw-sawed back and forth during the regular playing time with the Trojans having the lead at the end of the first and third periods and the Baptists out in front at the half.

Paxon Scores
In the second overtime period, Paxon tossed in a field goal that was instrumental in the Baptists gaining the victory. West of the Trojans and R. Snyder of the Baptists were the leading performers during the contest.

The other Class B game played last night was a heated duel between the Columbians and the Christians with the Columbians snatching the win, 21 to 20.

Trailing by a large margin at the close of the third period, the Christian cagers rallied to score 11 points while they held the Columbians to one field goal. However, the last quarter spurt lacked two points of bringing the victory.

Seven Home Games on Salem High Schedule For 1936 Grid Season

Quaker Football Team Will Play 10 Games During 1936 Season; Six of the Home Games Will Be Played On Friday Night

Seven home games, all but one of which will be played on Friday night, are listed on the 1936 Salem High school football schedule, recently arranged and announced today by Fred Cope, High school faculty manager.

Opening with Struthers High school on Friday, Sept. 18, the Quaker football team will play 10 games during the 1936 season. The campaign will close on Thanksgiving Day at Alliance when the Quakers meet the Alliance High school Aviators in their annual classic. After the season's opener, games will be played each week.

Only one date, Friday, Sept. 25, has not been definitely filled. Sebring, which last year held the Quakers to a scoreless deadlock, has signified its intention of playing Salem on this date, but the arrangement is only tentative. If Sebring is not booked, Cope stated, some other team will be scheduled.

The six night home games which the Quakers will play next fall are Struthers, Sebring (tentative), Youngstown East, East Liverpool, East Palestine and Niles while the lone Saturday game at home will be against Lisbon. The Lisbon game, which comes in November when the board of education refuses to permit night games, may possibly be changed to Armistice day.

The three contests which the Quakers will play on foreign grid-irons are Wellsville, Warren and Alliance. The Quakers played both Warren and Alliance away last year, but the games were listed as home affairs with Salem High in charge of the gate. It was necessary to play the Warren and Alliance games away because Reilly field at that time was being reseeded.

The first five of Salem's games next season will be played at home. After the Quakers play their first game away against Wellsville they will again return to Reilly field for two games before they swing into the latter part of their schedule on foreign soil.

Reilly field, which will be the scene of the Quakers' seven home contests, will be entirely covered with grass next fall if the planting process which the board of education supervised last November is successful. It is expected that additional seed will be sown on the field in the spring.

Plans have also been forwarded for the repainting of the lights which surround the field.

Following is the 1936 football schedule for the Quakers:
Sept. 18—Struthers. *Here.
Sept. 25—Sebring. (tentative). *Here.
Oct. 2—Youngstown East. *Here.
Oct. 9—East Liverpool. *Here.

Billiard Movie To Be Shown at State

"P's and Cues," the billiard movie featuring Charles Peterson and Ruth McGinnis, will be shown at the State theater Thursday as a special added attraction to the regular program.

Peterson, who once made 100 points in 47 seconds while 5,000 feet up in the clouds in a speeding airplane, is recognized as the fancy shot wizard of the billiard world. In the movie, Peterson demonstrates his famous "dollar shot," an achievement that but few billiard artists have been able to accomplish.

Miss McGinnis, the "queen of billiards," is acknowledged the greatest woman player of today and is said to be capable of defeating many outstanding men billiard players.
